Ms. Chang provided written details of the business names that have been registered using variations of her business name, and requested that the City of Burnaby strike this incorrect information from the City's records.

B) Canadian Wildlife Service - Environment Canada
Re: Species at Risk Act
Speaker: Danielle Prevost

Ms. Danielle Prevost, Canadian Wildlife Service - Environment Canada, appeared before Council providing information on the Species at Risk Act (SARA), its impacts on the community, what the Environment Canada does and how they can support the City of Burnaby.

The speaker noted that the Government of Canada introduced the Species at Risk Act to protect endangered and threatened species, and the spaces they need to flourish.

It was noted that the Federal Government is responsible for Canadian inland and territorial waters, and all aquatic species and migratory birds. The Federal Government has a role in assessing whether species are protected by the Provinces and Territories. The Provinces and Territories are primarily responsible for the majority of Canadian lands.

Ms. Prevost advised that critical habitat protection collaboration could include partnerships, such as the South Coast Conservation Program; Regional Biodiversity Conservation Strategy; mapping, technical and planning support; co-developed resources, i.e. stewardship practices, and others.

The speaker reviewed a three-year plan for Burnaby on species at risk:

- Extirpated – Pacific Gophersnake
- Threatened – Common Nighthawk
- Assessed as Threatened – Barn Owl
- Special Concerns – Ancient Murrelet, Great Blue Heron, Monarch Butterfly, Western Screech Owl, Band-tailed Pigeon, Northern Red-Legged Frog, Northern Rubber Boa, Peregrine Falcon, Short-eared Owl, Spotted Bat, Western Toad, and Vancouver Island Beggarticks

In conclusion, Ms. Prevost noted that several consultation documents will be sent to the City of Burnaby, in the near future, seeking feedback and possible collaboration.

C) South Coast Conservation Program
Re: Opportunities to Protect Species and Ecosystems at Risk
Speaker: Christine Cooper, Conservation Planner

Ms. Christine Cooper, Conservation Planner, South Coast Conservation Program, appeared before Council providing information on conservation efforts for species and ecosystems at risk.

The speaker noted there are 268 species threatened, endangered and special concern Provincially, and about 57 (including 3 extirpated) Federally.

Ms. Cooper noted some of the benefits of protecting species and ecosystems at risk, i.e. biodiversity is important to community health and well-being; resilient ecosystems equal resilient vibrant economies; high quality recreational experiences; continued flow of ecosystem services (i.e. clean air, water, food security).

In conclusion, the speaker advised that South Coast Conservation Program provides local governments with individualized guidance and training, and facilitates the sharing of conservation-based knowledge and expertise across jurisdictions.
