The mayor's speech is as follows:

"Each year, the City of Burnaby's Environmental Awards program recognizes deserving individuals, groups and businesses that have made significant contributions to our City in the areas of environmental stewardship and sustainability. This evening we are excited to recognize the recipients for 2016 and to celebrate the 20th Anniversary of the program.

First, some background information: awards may be presented in six categories: Business Stewardship, Communications, Community Stewardship, Green Choices, Planning and Development, and Youth.

There are also two levels of recognition. Environmental Awards typically recognize outstanding environmental achievements of a significant scope over a number of years. Environmental Stars generally recognize significant environmental achievements but of a smaller scale.

Each year, the Citizen Representatives of the City's Environment Committee have the difficult task of reviewing the nominations and recommending recipients for Council Approval. Thank you to Peter Cech, Peggy Hua, Bill Brassington, and Frank Zhao for their work this year.

Before we present the Awards and Stars, the City would like to acknowledge Covanta Energy, our corporate sponsor for Environment Week and the Awards Program this year. Thank you for your support.

And the City would also like to thank the Burnaby Photographic Society for providing fantastic images of Burnaby's natural environment, which were used to create a framed photograph for each of the Environmental Award recipients this evening.

Without further delay, for 2016 there are five Environmental Star recipients and four Environmental Award recipients. We will begin with the Environmental Stars.

The first Environmental Star, in the category of Business Stewardship, is presented to Gateway Casinos and Entertainment and L'Arche Greater Vancouver for their outstanding project and partnership that achieved energy use efficiencies at the L'Arche office in Burnaby.

The second Environmental Star, in the category of Business Stewardship, is presented to BC Technology for Learning Society for refurbishing used computers as part of the Computers for Schools Program and for implementing environmental sustainability initiatives as part of their business operations.

The third Environmental Star, in the category of Community Stewardship, is presented to Ruth Walmsley for her outstanding efforts and dedication to raising awareness of a significant environmental issue through her efforts with the community group Burnaby Residents Opposing Kinder Morgan Expansion.

The fourth Environmental Star, in the category of Community Stewardship, is presented to Dave Stafford for his outstanding record of service with the Burnaby Lake Park Association.

The fifth Environmental Star, in the category of Youth, is presented to the Lochdale Community School Green Team for educating their classmates about waste reduction and recycling.

That concludes the presentation of the Environmental Stars. Next are the four Environmental Award recipients.

The first Environmental Award, in the category of Business Stewardship, is presented to False Creek Collision Eco for their outstanding efforts to invest in new technologies that improve air quality and reduce energy consumption and for providing leadership in environmental sustainability to their industry.

The second Environmental Award, in the category of Community Stewardship, is presented to the community group Burnaby Residents Opposing Kinder Morgan Expansion, for their outstanding efforts to educate Burnaby residents about the pipeline expansion project and the potential risks to our community and the environment.

The third Environmental Award, in the category of Green Choices, is presented to Barb McMahon, founder of Sprouting Chefs, for her outstanding efforts to educate students in Burnaby about growing food, creating community, environmental sustainability, and leadership.

The fourth Environmental Award, in the category of Planning and Development, is presented to Appia Developments for the Solo District and use of a low carbon geothermal exchange system that will significantly reduce annual greenhouse gas emissions from the operation of the buildings.
