The City of Burnaby
Board of Variance

October 4, 2018

Dear Members

RE: Board of Variance for 2111 Jordan Drive

It was our intension to adhere to the Zoning Bylaw with the best of our abilities. However, due to a series of misunderstandings and realizations, we have come to an impasse. It is because of the interpretations of the regulations that we are here seeking the advice and approval from the Board of Variance.

This project was initially started after having a brief discussion with Plan Checkers at the counter in City Hall. It appeared that by complying with the current conditions of a Corner Flanking Lot that our project would move forward with success. Consideration was also giving to the proposed detached garage and with the proposed rear yard addition; efforts were made to stay within the current zoning regulations for building setback.

The proposal was to surrender the existing driveway crossing for a new driveway and crossing located in the cul-de-sac flanking off of Delwood Court. This driveway would serve the proposed new garage and provide parking for an in-law suite to be located in the basement. Expansion of the existing structure would become critical to the design for the development of a new In-law suite and a Master Bedroom, En Suite and W.I.C. addition for the principle dwelling.

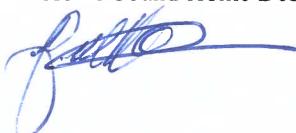

It was considered during all this time of development that the existing structure would be Grand-Fathered in its location as an existing non-conforming structure. The Designer and Builder, whom had collaborated on the development of this proposal, were not aware that the earlier work was not a matter of Building Permit record. While it could be said that there are signs that the dwelling had been altered at some earlier stage, it has always been the practice of both the Builder and the Designer to obtain the proper permits and permissions. It came as both surprise and disappointment to find that the previous work was not permitted. Then, realization that the previous work would be considered as part to the new proposal in order to bring it up to date as part of the Building Permit record.

The circumstance that now remains is one of great difficulty. It would be impractical to deconstruct the portion of the structure that is non-conforming. This portion of structure came into existence as a garage, intergraded into the structural components of a Permitted Residential Dwelling. Removal would require more than just the deconstruction of the non-conforming portions of the structure. While it was the combining of the garage space with the living space that created this conflict, merely reversing course does not significantly alleviate the problem. Both Front Yard and Side Yard Setback requirement have been compromised by changes to these requirements since the origin of this Residence. Rendering the space back to Garage does nothing to alter its relationship or orientation on the Lot. However, this approach would require the existing driveway to remain in place to service the garage, rendering the Proposed Garage useless and in conjunction dismantle any opportunity to provide the additional parking and additional space required for an In-law Suite.

We believe that the Setback Requirements for this Lot poses the hardship when set in conjunction with the Existing Structure. The infill of the Garage, from a layman's point of view, while not permitted, may have seemed a logical conclusion due to the fact that no structure was compromised. But, because there has been an alteration to a non-conforming structure we find ourselves without the ability to remedy this condition. It is with our hope in the mercy of the Board that we ask for an understanding that this Proposal was not presented to take advantage of current regulations, but to work with an existing condition

Thank you for your consideration
