

Dear Mayor and Council,

I write to you today as a resident of the City of Burnaby to express my hope for the City going forward. First off, I would like to commend the Council for proposing very great emission-reduction and climate targets. However, in order to fully cement our place as a green city doing its utmost to contribute to the fight against climate change, I ~~hope and~~ request the City to put in place community-wide emission-reduction targets as outlined by the IPCC. These targets being adopted would bring Burnaby, ground-zero for the fight against Kinder-Morgan and one of the leaders on climate change in Canada, nation-wide recognition as a fighter for its residents, and frankly, for the planet. As a 19 year-old resident, I am privileged to have grown up among swathes of natural wildlife and forests, lakes and streams. Our connection with nature has made us very susceptible to information about potential risks. To combat these risks, we need to take action, and I really hope you in charge will.

Thank you,

Jovin Khehra, [REDACTED]
